Quattro

Medical solutions

Main parameters of value:

- Enhanced performance and operating comfort:
  - Continuously variable velocity in both directions
  - Variable load possible independent of direction of the movement
  - Minimum play when reversing the direction of the movement
  - 100% tight valves, no creep under load
- Functional safety:
  - Valves with integrated safety function mounted to the cylinder

- The Quattro is an electro-hydraulic system specially developed for the high-end medical market. With this system it is possible to vary load and velocity in either direction independently of each other.

- This product, developed for scanners and operating tables, can also be used in every application where it comes to extremely precise adjustment at variable loads and/or velocities.

SPECIFICATIONS

Flexibility to adapt to application needs
